Rowbotham Joins Geneva Group International

---

November 17, 2011

Effective October 1, 2011, Rowbotham & Company ("RCO") has joined Geneva Group International ("GGI"), a leading global association of independent accountants, lawyers, and consultants.

There are currently 330 accounting, law and consulting firms in the association in more than 90 countries with total revenues of $4.22 billion in 2010. GGI was ranked 6th in the world among networks and associations based on revenues in 2010.

GGI's world headquarters are in Zurich and its US headquarters are in Boston.

RCO will now, through GGI, be able to offer significantly expanded global resources in taxation, audit, and cross border transactions.

Membership in GGI enhances RCO's ability to provide expertise and additional know-how to meet growing client needs, both internationally and domestically.

Claudio Cocca, President and Founder of GGI, regards Rowbotham's membership as an opportunity for other member firms in Europe and Asia to access expertise in cross border M&A, tax, and audit for businesses entering the high tech and investment arena.

"Many of GGI's current member firms and their clients will have exceptional expertise and quality services available to them from this newly added California based firm" - Claudio Cocca.
